Bridal Shower For Mrs. P. Ewing

No Bed-patients Allowed

"Home For Aged" Not The Answer To Problem

Hon. R. D. Jorgenson, Minister of Public Welfare in the Alberta cabinet, was the guest speaker at a meeting held in the high school auditorium Monday evening of this week and attended by about 30 residents of the town and district. Mr. Jorgenson's talk dealt with the cost and operation of a home for the aged or infirm.

Douglas Galbraith was chairman of the meeting, which was sponsored by the F.U.A. locals of the district in co-operation with other organizations and with the County of Vulcan. Present at the meeting were E. G. Hansell, M.P. for Macleod; Hon. Rev. Peter Dawson, member of the provincial legislature for Little Bow; County chairman J. E. Carlson and several members of the county council, and Mayor W. D. Allan of the Town of Vulcan.

In his opening remarks, Mr. Jorgenson brought out the point that a "Home for the Aged" was for "up-patients," those elder people who do not require nursing care. Chronic Convalescent Hospitals, which are under the jurisdiction of the Department of Health, are for bed-patients and those requiring nursing care.

For a Home for the Aged, the Department of Public Welfare will pay one-third of the building costs or up to $750 per bed. To qualify for the grant, title for the home must be held in the name of the municipality or county. The department would like to see a Home for the Aged built in every municipality, said Mr. Jorgenson, as this would enable the residents of such homes to remain near their relatives and friends.

A home to accommodate 24 people (six married couples and 12 single persons) would cost about $102,000. This would cover good-sized rooms and a recreation room, dining room, kitchen and laundry, etc. and staff quarters. It should be built on not less than three acres of land, to allow space for gardens, flower beds, etc. The government grant would cover one-third the cost, with the remaining two-thirds cost borne by the district—the county and the towns and villages within the county boundaries. Mr. Jorgenson quoted approximate figures which showed, on the basis of assessments, that the County would be paying about 83% of this remaining two-thirds of the cost, the Town of Vulcan about 10% and the villages of Champion, Carmangay, Milo and Arrowwood amounts ranging from 1.67% to 2.63%.

Maintenance costs would be met by charging each resident of the home a certain amount ($47.50 per month is recommended). Of the balance, or net costs to the municipality, the Dept. of Public Welfare will pay 60%, up to a maximum of $1.08 per patient-day. In the discussion that followed Mr. Jorgenson's address, the general opinion seemed to be that what is needed in this area is a chronic hospital, where residents could receive nursing care and where provision would be made for bed-patients. It was suggested that a combination home-hospital would best meet the need, but Mr. Jorgenson was unable to state whether or not this type of building would qualify for construction and maintenance grants, inasmuch as Homes for the Aged come under the Department of Welfare while Chronic Hospitals come under the Department of Health.

In reply to a question, County Chairman J. E. Carlson stated that under present regulations it would be impossible to construct a chronic hospital to serve the County of Vulcan alone, as such a hospital must be of at least 20 beds and must serve a population of at least 15,000 people. Estimated population of the County of Vulcan and the towns and villages within its boundaries is not much more than 9,000. For this reason, the County and Town of Vulcan had consulted with representatives of the M.D. of Foot-hills and Town of High River regarding construction of a chronic hospital to serve the combined areas, but nothing further was being done until the details of the proposed Dominion health scheme were settled.

A suggestion that a separate wing for chronic cases be added to the present municipal hospital raised the question of whether or not such construction would qualify for the provincial and Dominion government grants. Steps will be taken by the County and the hospital board to get further information on this point.

The meeting agreed that a committee be set up, composed of representatives of the County, the Town of Vulcan, the F.U.A. Sub-district, the Board of Trade and the villages of Champion, Carmangay, Milo and Arrowwood, to further this matter and bring forth recommendations in the best interests of the residents of this area.

We Hope He's Right

Addressing a recent meeting of the Medicine Hat Liberal Association, Agriculture Minister J. G. Gardiner said: "This crop year will see us take in more cash from our farms than ever before."

Mr. Gardiner evidently based his optimistic prediction on the fact that orders for wheat are greater than they were last year. European countries have ordered millions of bushels for future delivery, he said.

About a year ago Mr. Gardiner told western farmers that they had nothing to worry about—that they would be able to sell plenty of wheat. His statement at that time was almost immediately followed by six months without a quota.

He apparently has sounder reasons for being optimistic this year but most farmers, we think, have adopted a "wait and see" attitude instead of taking his statements at their face value. If his prediction that the grain glut will be cleared up "right away" comes true the wheat growing communities will then share in the prosperity that is being enjoyed by the rest of Canada.
